SUMMARY

Finance and administration candidate who has spent the last several years handling real money and real customer data, first at the cashier counter, then as a BRILink banking agent. I'm careful with numbers, I keep clean records, and I'm used to being the person people trust with cash. Before that, I taught Word, Excel, and PowerPoint as a computer instructor, so I explain things clearly and pick up new systems quickly. I'm now looking for an office-based role in finance, administration, or project coordination where I can put that reliability to work.
